Place an aluminum utensil, empty, over a fire and when utensil has become heated throughout, throw into it a pint of ice-water. You will find the utensil unaffected.

THAT'S one reason why "Wear-Ever" ware lasts a generation. And there are other reasons.

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Utensils

Are made from thick, hard sheet aluminum, 99 per cent. pure, without joints, seams or soldered parts. No coating to peel, crack or blister. Cannot rust, cannot form poisonous compounds with fruit acids or foods.

"Wear-Ever" ware saves you food too. Aluminum utensils are less liable to scorch food than others. And even if you let them boil dry "Wear-Ever" utensils can be cleaned without difficulty and will be found uninjured.

Public Market

From the reports of the last two meetings of the Council of the Red Deer Board of Trade, published in the local papers, it will have been noted that the Board of Trade, at the request of one of the United Farmers' Associations in the district, is considering the practicability of a public market in Red Deer.

A preliminary step the Board caused letters to be written to the United Farmers' Associations in the district, enquiring as to whether such a scheme would meet with approval. While two associations have not yet been heard from, the letters already received lead the Board of Trade to believe that the step will have the sympathy and support of farmers throughout the district. At the present time the Committee of the Board of Trade is appointed to attend to this matter, is gathering data preparatory to calling a combined meeting to more fully consider the question. At that meeting it is hoped that besides the Board of Trade members there will also be present delegates from the various United Farmers' Associations as representatives of the producers, and delegates from the Women's Institute of Red Deer, representing the consumers.

The Board of Trade realize that the whole question requires very full consideration before it can be definitely decided to establish the market. Whereas in a large city such as Calgary there is no difficulty as to the disposal of the produce brought to market, in a very much smaller city, such as Red Deer, the question as to the volume of demand for such produce is a question more difficult to solve.

For the purpose of being able to form an opinion as to the support that will be received from the citizens of Red Deer, the Market Committee of the Board of Trade would ask all householders to cut out and mail the coupon appended, as such a vote and promise of support from a large number of our citizens would enable those working upon the subject to form a very excellent opinion on what they feel to be the most difficult point to be considered.

To the Market Committee, care of the Secretary, Board of Trade, Red Deer, Alta. With reference to the practicability of establishing a public market at Red Deer, I desire to express my full sympathy with the movement, and promise my support as a consumer.

Michener Block Going Up

E. Michener, M.P.P., has decided to commence operations on the addition to the present Michener Block at once. The old frame building that used to stand on the grounds has been removed to 2nd St. South, and the contractor is already busy working on the window and door frame work.

The additional building to be erected will face on 1st St. South, and will have a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 30 feet and will be two stories high. The front construction will be one continuous row of plate glass, with easy set glass above, all set in copper frame work. The roof will be of iron, and two iron cornices, one above the other, will run round the whole of the block, both old and new. The walls will be of solid brick work, the face brick being the Edmontown Pressed, and for the inside walls local brick will be used. The ground floor will be divided into four stores, photo gallery, and private office for Mr. Michener. The whole of the second floor space will be occupied by the two local Masonic Lodges and Eastern Star Chapter. The main room for Lodge meetings will be 28 x 45, the assembly room 15 x 30, and card room 13 x 18. There will also be two regalia rooms, hall, lavatories, etc. The floors are to be laid with No. 1 maple, except the hall, which will be of mosaic. The building will be steam heated and up-to-date in every particular.

A. R. Boyle is the general contractor, and Julius McIntosh has the sub-contract for the brickwork. The contractors for heating, plumbing and plastering have not yet been let.

Institution of Keystone Chapter Royal Arch Masons

Keystone Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, was instituted in Red Deer on Thursday evening last, March 19th, under the most favorable auspices. The Chapter was instituted by Excellent Companion M. M. The following officers were selected and installed:
1st Principal—W. E. Lord.

Sixty-two members joined the Chapter, and were initiated Thursday night, making a record for the Dominion of Canada, as this was the largest number put through in one night in any one chapter in the history of the Dominion. Another notable feature was that all the officers, with one exception, were Past Master Masons.

The Chapter was instituted in the Parish Hall, the Ladies' Auxiliary serving a dainty lunch for the occasion.

U.F.A. Edwell Union No. 53

This Local Union held a very interesting though not a very numerous attended meeting on Thursday last in the school house, under the chairmanship of the President, T. J. Walton. After the disposal of the minutes, the Secretary read all communications, and one in regard to four in carload lots from the Alberta Elevator Co., and he was instructed to enquire whether delivery could be made at any station required. It was arranged that the Secretary supply the members with formalin as before, and members are requested to notify their requirements at once to the Secretary. Several orders for barrel salt were put in, and there are good prospects of a carload being filled at an early date. Members please notify their requirements. Enquiry was made for a bull by a member of a neighboring Local Union.

The subject of the formation of a local reference library was brought up, but, owing to the small attendance, it was decided to defer discussion until the next meeting. The Secretary reported having borne graves seed on hand, and any members requiring some will please communicate. On motion of W. E. Pixley, the meeting was adjourned to Thursday, April 2nd next, when all members and prospective members are requested to attend. We noticed that the majority of members in attendance were those who had most fervent hope. See the enthusiastic order. Other members take notice—F. J. Powell, Secretary.

Curling Notes

The curling season of 1913-14, as far as Red Deer is concerned, came to an end on Saturday night last with the playing of the final game for the Brumpton Cup between the Beckett and Clarke rinks, which ended in a win for Beckett by the score of 14-12. Beckett got away with a good lead in the first three ends and Clarke failed to overhaul him, although he was only two down at the finish.

The season has been a most successful one from every point of view. The members have been enthusiastic, and the ice has always been in good condition and calls for commendation on behalf of those who have looked after it. Many citizens who do not curl themselves have taken a big interest this year, particularly during bonspiel week, when they had the full satisfaction of seeing the local rinks put up some very fine games against the strongest rinks of the province, ending with the Campbell rink winning the Grand Challenge, the most sought for trophy at any bonspiel, which was a big interest this year.

The following are the winners of the different cups:
Club Cup—A. R. Gibson.
Payne Cup—A. R. Gibson.
Stephenson Cup—W. J. Stephenson.
Gaetz Cup—J. M. Campbell.
Brumpton Cup—E. H. Beckett.
Scott Cup—J. Fulton.
Points trophy—J. M. Campbell.

First Hospital Board Meeting

At the first meeting of the new Board of Directors of the Hospital the principal business transacted was the election of officers. Mr. Tallman, under whose care the hospital has prospered for the last five years, was again unanimously elected President, and Mr. O. W. Smith Vice-President. Some discussion took place as to the secretaryship, the Board desiring to retain the services of Mr. Allen. However, it was found, after a committee composed of Mr. Tallman and Mr. Waller had discussed it with the City Commissioners, that Mr. Allen could not hold the position of city auditor and still as hospital secretary, so the Board reluctantly accepted Mr. Allen's resignation and passed the following resolution, viz:

"That this Board hereby expresses its sincere regret that we are to lose the services of Mr. Allen as Secretary-Treasurer, which position he has so long filled to the great advantage of the Hospital, and in expressing our appreciation of his faithful services in this respect, we would further express the hope that the board may long be able to retain his counsel and assistance as a director."

Agricultural Executive Council Meet

The executive of the Agricultural Society met in the Board of Trade rooms on Thursday evening last to take up the matter of special attractions before the grand stand.

Mr. Felix Reich, Secretary of the Robinson Amusement Corporation, of Chicago, was present, and the matter discussed in detail, but the executive were unable to come to satisfactory terms with him. The executive thought that in view of the additional money to be spent on races, that they would have to curtail attraction expenses a little. The matter has not been dropped entirely, but will be taken up again this week.

Hon. Wm. Paterson Dead; Minister of Customs in Laurier Government

Leading Liberal for Many Years

Brantford, March 18.—Word was received of the death at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dr. J. H. Hines, Brantford, Ont., at 2:30 this afternoon, of Hon. Wm. Paterson, minister of customs in the Laurier government.

While his death comes as a great shock, it was not entirely unexpected, as Mr. Paterson has been in very poor health for some time.

He is survived by his wife, along with two sons and one daughter, one son, Charles Gordon, holding a chair in a theological college at San Francisco, while the other, W. F., is president of Wm. Paterson and Son, this city, biscuit manufacturers.

In the death of the Hon. Wm. Paterson, there is removed another of the band of fighters in the Liberal ranks, who for years fought persistently against Sir John A. Macdonald, and later was associated with Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the government from 1896 to 1911. He was minister of customs during that period and carried out his duties with great success. When the red-powder negotiations were under way to Mr. Paterson and Mr. Fielding were left the presentations of the views of the Canadian government.

LIFE A FIGHT ALL THE WAY.
Life was a fight all the way for Wm. Paterson. Born in Hamilton, in 1839, of Scottish parents, he was only ten years old when they were both carried away within a few hours by the great cholera epidemic.

The orphan boy was taken by Rev. Andrew Peirce, D.D., of Caledonia, and by him brought up and educated. At first he was a clerk in a grocery store and afterwards formed a partnership with H. B. Leomin in the manufacture of biscuits and confectionery in Brantford. Later in 1876 he took over the whole business and became exceedingly prosperous.

In 1883 he married Lucy Clive, the third daughter of T. C. Davies, of Brantford.

He began his political life when he sided with Sir Francis Hincks, minister of finance, in South Brant, by 272 votes in 1872. At that time as mayor of Brantford, Mr. Paterson was but 33 years old, but had shown himself energetic and public spirited.

A STUBBORN CONTEST.
The contest was a most stubborn one, of which his opponent was a man of a large majority, but the vigor of the Liberal candidate and the enthusiasm of his supporters won the election. It was a striking introduction for the inexperienced young man to have defeated one of the shrewdest and most experienced political leaders of the time.

Standing six feet or more, with arms and shoulders, eyes and jaw to match, he was a striking figure when he rose in his seat. In spite of his thunderous voice, his biting sarcasm and his vigorous denunciations, the Hon. Mr. Paterson was kindly and warm hearted. His defeat a couple of years ago did not embitter him in the least, and he seemed to enjoy the respite from the fighting which had been his lot throughout so many years.

WALKING, STANDING AND SITTING
How to Hold and Propel the Body and Limbs

One or two men and women out of possibly five hundred walk, stand and sit correctly. Four hundred and ninety-eight others shamble in their stride, slouch when they stand and crouch when they sit. The first thing that attracts the average observer to the movements of a smart regiment marching is the rhythmic effect of the time kept by the men's feet. It's all in the training. The soldier is taught to walk from the hips, with an easy and unstrained gait and with head erect and chest thrown out. It is the natural and proper way to handle the limbs and body. Infinitely easier on the constitution than any method of shambling or lurching along.

Take yourself, for instance. Why do you lean forward when you walk? hold yourself carefully, stoop, or otherwise display awkward form? The army or navy officer is as alert and graceful as a falcon. He handles his body with precision. He does not let his limbs direct his mind, but puts something of his mind into his movements. To walk well is to last well. It means a longer lease of youth, a better condition of lungs and heart, better digestion, an improvement in physique and character.

The average walk of the average man is a cross between a shuffle and a hop. It is usually done with the body and shoulders humped forward, and often with the toes turned in. The average walk of the average woman is a composition of miming and stiffness. The children as a rule walk better than the "grown-ups," but they very soon adopt the awkward gait of their elders. Stoopiness is the child's great fault, and that way lies curvature of the spine and kindred ailments. In standing, the tendency is, too often, to lean forward, or "kne" in," or hold the body baggily, as if under weariness. Few people stand well. It is an art.

As for sitting, which is, of course, an artificial position, there are rarely to be found people who accomplish this difficult feat with any degree of grace. Sitting on the tip of the spine is a favorite pose, and some individuals accomplish the almost impossible feat of sitting on the small of their backs. A round-shouldered position is very often another banal accompaniment of sitting down.

Now, as it is easy to point out these obvious defects, it is none the less easy to offer a sure and comparatively simple remedy to correct them. Watch every movement of the body, and practice in your room, your back-yard and your hall the right way to hold yourself, to walk, stand and sit yourself. Cultivate erectness as the first cardinal principle of walking, standing and sitting. Walk in a straight line, not swaying from one line or a road or sidewalk to still another line. Hold your head up and your chest out. Take steps suitable to your build. Don't try to chop your steps in two to accommodate your stride to a companion, and don't attempt to lengthen your steps to duplicate that of experienced horse men.

Swing the arms easily and regularly. Breathe deep and steadily. Walk like the soldiers. If a military experience does not do anything else for a boy it will teach him to walk and stand correctly.

In standing, hold your body poised, not pendent. Straight, not loped.

small fan. Now, if a little power will drive a small fan, a greater power of the same kind will drive a big fan, and the power which drives a large fan will drive the propeller of a ship and turn the wheels of a motor car. Perhaps the liner of the future will be driven across the ocean by currents set up by a speck of radium.

Other things that Mr. Phillips did with his mine of radium were very curious. He forced a quantity of radium emanation through a long glass tube to a bulb containing zinc sulphide. The sulphide, immediately the radium gas came in contact with it, became brilliantly luminous. Next he took a small balloon, and by means of friction he excited electricity in it as we excite electricity in our hair by brushing it. This excited, the balloon followed his fingers about as if it had been steel pursuing a magnet. But the money Mr. Phillips passed a speck of radium near it the balloon lost its electricity. It stopped, no longer able to respond to the attraction of the radium. Mr. Phillips produced from his radium a speck of blue light, and showed that it was attracted, like a needle, to a magnet. He also showed the blue light from the radium passing through solid bodies, like sunlight through a clear sheet of glass.

Among other interesting facts, the lecturer mentioned that there must be 20,000 tons of radium in the sea. One ton of radium is equal in point of radiogenicity to 1,500,000 tons of uranium. A gram of radium illuminates by one-half in 1750 years, and in that time it gives off energy equaling the energy of a horse laboring for 3,600 hours.

Every new thing we learn about radium, then, makes us more and more realize its extraordinary value. We cannot get enough of it, but we are slowly finding new possibilities. Hitherto all the known deposits were in two places. One was the waste from the old lead and tin mines of Cornwall, which before the Romans were here, brought the old Phoenicians to Britain to obtain supplies. This was one main source; the other was in Austria.

But now there has been a romantic find in Colorado, in a place known as Paradox Valley. Here a great steel manufacturing firm of Pitkin has been seeking special ores for its manufactures. Together with the metals sought, they have found large deposits of uranium, the substance in which radium is contained. It is reported that there are rich supplies of it, and the fortunate company has acted nobly by giving the amount of the find to the National Radium Institute.

Poisoned by Liquor Consumed at Dance

Ten Guests Were Taken Ill and Two Died From the Effects

Revelstoke, B.C., March 18.—Provincial Constable Rothwell has just returned to town with the bodies of two victims of a peculiar tragedy which occurred at Malakwa, near here. It appears that on Friday night liquor was purchased at Revelstoke by a Malakwa man for consumption at a dance at Malakwa on Saturday.

As a result of partaking of this liquor ten guests at the Malakwa dance were taken ill during Sunday and Monday, and two, a married man named Labau, of Malakwa, and a woman, died as a result of the poisoning. Constable Rothwell holds the bottle containing a small quantity of the liquor. The inquest will open on Monday.

The tragedy has caused a great sensation in the district.

LIBERAL HOWL RE. DISMISSALS

Hon. J. D. Hazen Shows Up Their Hypocrisy

The Liberal members have been howling lately over dismissals. To believe the Maritime members one would imagine there was a wholesale firing of officials, and that not a solitary official remained in his position after 1911. Just how much truth there is in the Liberal screams was shown by Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the other day. Of 7,000 officials in his department, only 510 have been dismissed, or 7 per cent. On the other hand, the self-righteous Liberal party in 1896 had dismissed 16 per cent. of the officials in his department.

The hypocritical talk of the Liberals on the subject of dismissals, in view of the wholesale manner in which they dismissed officials in 1896, is nothing short of nauseating.

SPRING OPENING

McLEAN BROS. wish to announce
THE FIRST SHOWING

for this season

Which will take place FRIDAY & SATURDAY
With Webb's Orchestra in attendance.

A cordial invitation is extended to the Ladies of Red Deer and vicinity to visit our new Millinery and Mantle Salon.

Our increasing business in Ladies' Ready-to-Wear garments has demanded more room, so we have had our second floor filled up to show Coats and Suits in conjunction with Millinery, which will be more satisfactory and comfortable to our Customers in every way.

Miss M. J. Stewart, late of Toronto, has taken charge of the Millinery Department and comes with a large experience from the Centres of Fashionable Headwear.

Just a word about the new ideas of Colors and Shapes.

The Spring naturally leads one to think of brighter colors and the following list gives some of the more prominent shades to be found in this season's creations. Lobster, Shrimp, Gold, Servian and Night Blue, Billiard Green, Coffee and Nigger Browns.

Ribbons are very largely used, in fact specially so. Heavy Corded in plain shades, seem to be the favorite.

The outstanding feature in trimming is the high ruffle effect, achieved by Pleated Malines, Taffeta silk and Ribbons.

The hats continue small in shape. Small and medium sized sailors are strong favorites.

A departure from the general rule, is the fact, that many, in fact the majority of hats are hand made, which gives them an individuality, which cannot be attained by machine made shapes.

Much more might be said, but it is impossible to describe the Combination of hand work and Color, which to be appreciated must be seen.

Ladies' Ready to Wear Department Second Floor

Never before has this department started a season with such a swing, which is owing, without doubt, to the general efficiency of "Northway's" Garments, and our increased facilities for showing and handling these goods will result in still larger business.

NO HOME RULE.

The Toronto News, speaking on the Home Rule question, asks:

Why should Ulster consider "concessions"? Why Home Rule at all? For twenty years Ireland has been the spoiled child of the Imperial Household. More has been done for Irish tenants than for land occupiers anywhere else in the world. The cost has been borne chiefly by the British taxpayers.

If the Irish majority suffered political grievances years ago they have been removed. Ireland has been the beneficiary of such indulgence as has been extended to no other portion of the Empire. Still a group of agitators demand Home Rule because that is the business to which they were born and reared. Ulster refuses to be separated from the United Kingdom.

Irish Protestants want to remain within the Empire. They ask for no special consideration. They seek no privileges. They simply refuse to be taken from the heels of a hostile religious and national majority. Mr. Winston Churchill, in a speech which he has just delivered, said: "The first British soldier or coast guard who is attacked and killed by the Orangemen will raise such an explosion in this country as the Tories little appreciate, and it will shake the foundations of society."

This is as true as it can be. But Ulster will not have Home Rule. It is attempted to put the measure into effect "Ulster will fight and Ulster will be right." As sure as the sun shines there will be civil war before Ulster will submit to a Dublin Parliament. Moreover, if the people of Ulster submitted they would lose their place in history and earn the contempt of mankind.

FATHER VAUGHAN ON CANADA.

Father Vaughan is back in England after an American tour, and can find nothing good to say about Canada. He describes the Prairies as "a terrible" place, and asserts that he knew of many people who wanted to get back to England. He recommended those whom he addressed at the Free Trade Hall, in Manchester, to go to the United States in preference to the Dominion, if they intended to emigrate. He is reported to have said among other things: "A farmer in the North of England had told me that he had advertised for a ploughman in Canada, and has received 2,000 pleading applications." When this statement appeared in print and was challenged, Father Vaughan said that 200 was the number mentioned by him. When asked for the name of the farmer, he said he did not know but had heard the story on the train. Mr. Obed Smith further investigated this statement and found that no such advertisement had appeared in any Canadian paper. It seems a pity that a man, who was received as cordially as Father Vaughan was in Canada, should have associated himself with such gross misrepresentations.

THE GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL COLD STORAGE WAREHOUSES.

At last a bill will be brought before the Federal Parliament providing for the inspection and regulation of cold storage warehouses. This is a measure, says the Calgary News Telegram, that will be in the interests of the consuming public, and the regulations, it is hoped, will put an end to "cornering" food products to restrict supply for the purpose of maintaining or realizing high prices.

The public has got tired of this sort of thing, and has been burdened with the last straw. The debates in parliament on the subject are likely to be interesting, and to open the eyes of the people to ways and means that have been hitherto adopted to rig the produce markets and victimize the producers.

Cold storage used without abuse is a boon, but the manner in which it has been abused has proved it a curse to consumers, and the government can now see that it reverts to its legitimate purpose, and the purchasing public will benefit largely thereby.

The next move should be to provide a national cold storage system controlled by the government.

The Belleville Intelligencer has commiserated a hilarious offence. It has gone so far as to refer to the Member for Red Deer as "Dr. Mike Clark."

BELAND A PROTECTIONIST

Hon. H. S. Beland, of Beauport, announces himself to be a Protectionist. Mr. Beland is, perhaps, the ablest Liberal member from Quebec, and differs from his colleagues because he is sincere.

While his friends were making serious appeals the other night, he told the Commons frankly that he favors moderate protection for all branches of Canadian industry, and especially for infant industries. This is good Conservative doctrine, the very trunk of the National Policy, the policy which the Liberal party, while it had responsibility, was forced to practice, no matter what it professed.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Beland will set himself to the task of limiting his party on the economic question, at least in the Province of Quebec. Perhaps with the aid of D. A. Lafontaine, who wants more protection for his "Tobacco Canyons," he may be able to bring back into the fold that sudden convert to Cobdenism—the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux.

The Blind Guide of Rocky Mountain House has discovered an awful piece of Tory Corruption in the western country, and proceeds to rake an exposure in a column article, concluding with an affidavit as long as your arm on the matter, and the Calgary Albertan takes the whole matter very seriously in Monday's issue.

The following are the facts as taken from the L'Ind Guide: A man named Fred G. Fletcher applied to supervisor J. W. McAbbe for a job as forest ranger for 1914. He was informed he would have to get a recommendation from the Conservative association. Fletcher asked for a letter to that effect.

The following letter, he says, was sent him:

March 9th, 1914.
As regards your application to be reinstated as Forest Ranger on the Clearwater Forest Reserve, will say that although your work of last summer was far below the standard, you secure a recommendation from the Conservative leaders, namely, Mr. Standish, of the Rocky Mountain House, and same will be considered.

Your obedient servant,
J. W. McAbbe, Supervisor.

Fletcher then publishes an affidavit that the above is true in every particular and sworn to before a commissioner.

And this is the whole awfully wicked, corrupt story.

It doesn't amount to much, does it? Now we would ask the Albertan if it can point to a single case in Alberta where a provincial appointment has been made without first referring it to the Liberal executive? We pause for a reply.

In the City Council, the other evening, the members decided to have pool rooms closed at eleven o'clock at night, but they were informed the provincial government enacted that pool rooms should remain open to twelve o'clock at night. It is about time the people of the province took a hand in this, sort of thing and let the Sifton Government know where they get off at.

GREAT BRITAIN LOSING PRESTIGE.

For the blue funk and poltroon party in this country, which is ever groping for something to execrate, it is a pity that the English had told him that he had advertised for a ploughman in Canada, and has received 2,000 pleading applications." When this statement appeared in print and was challenged, Father Vaughan said that 200 was the number mentioned by him. When asked for the name of the farmer, he said he did not know but had heard the story on the train. Mr. Obed Smith further investigated this statement and found that no such advertisement had appeared in any Canadian paper. character altogether from that which exists between England, France and Germany.

The men in this country, who, aware of these ominous facts, still persist that Canada shall pursue the cowardly and contemptible course of shielding herself behind a misty theory of autonomy and shelter provided by the brains and money of others, must take the choice of being knaves or fools. There are some people in the country who can be pardoned for thinking they are pretty much of both.

EDMONTON'S FOOLISHNESS.

Edmonton, Alta., March 21.—Edmonton's latest contribution to the municipal owned fete, the Official Gazette, which made its initial appearance on March 19, is being severely criticised by ratepayers who will foot the bill, estimated to reach $25,000 a year. The local press also expresses its disapproval in no uncertain terms. Chief Justice Beck of the Alberta supreme court, will, on March 31, hear the argument of counsel for Mark Tooley, a property owner, who seeks to restrain the municipality from continuing the publication.

Frank W. Harting, a veteran newspaper man of wide experience, writing in the Capital, says: "The Official Gazette must be described as a vile specimen of a bad newspaper, adding: 'Future generations will see it in the chamber of horrors of some school of journalism as an example of what should not be produced.'"

John Michaels, president of the Edmonton Newsboys' Union, says the Gazette, which is to be published every Thursday noon, is "a rank bloomer; it got a bum start and doesn't get you anywhere." Leonard W. Brockington, editor of the Gazette, which is now referred to as "the official organ of Mayor McNamara and his crowd," announced that the cost of producing the paper will be less than four cents a copy. The first number of the Gazette has 16 pages, each of four short columns, contains half-tone engravings of the mayor and members of the Council and Board of commissioners, reports of committees and several special articles dealing with civic activities. It contains no advertising other than the city's legal notices. The first issue, printed in a job office, was in thousands of copies, which were distributed free of charge to citizens.

The Jag-Ship of The Trent

(Amongst the astounding revelations of petty graft on the Trent Canal during the Liberal regime is the case of the Government boat "Bessie Butler," which was used as a floating bar for joyous expeditions by the faithful.)

Hurrah for the "Bessie Butler," hurrah for her gallant crew, As splash and spray a little craft, as ever the Grit flag flew. Whenever the "boys" got thirsty, and all their money was spent They boarded the "Bessie Butler," the Jag-ship of the Trent.

The cargo she took was precious, and they stowed it all below; Rum and whiskey and lager, right down in the hold would go. And never was crew so handy, with never a thought of care. And the tools they carried were cork-screws, and each man had a pair.

There was gin for the gallant captain, and beer for the bo'sun's bid. They splashed the main brace every hour in the bar-room in the hold. They sang and played the piano from eve until break of day.

And the theme of the song was "Strut and the chorus was "Laurier."

Hurrah for the "Bessie Butler," the boat so smart and trim. Loaded with beer and "vittels," she did great work for "Jim." She did her duty nobly, no matter where she was sent. The good old "Bessie Butler," the Jag-ship of the Trent!

Hill End

March 18.—The regular weekly meeting of the Debating Society opened with an accordion solo by A. Pye, which was enjoyed.

The question of the night was "Youth and the Farm," by Mrs. Songhurst and Mr. A. Evans, both of Hill End.

Mrs. Songhurst was the first speaker, and dealt in a very able manner with the subject, going into the pioneer days of the settlers and tracing them along to the present. In order to hold the young people on the farm home ties and comforts should be extended to them in the way of kind parents and all the pleasures possible. The speaker went on to state that so many young people leave the farm in order to get riches easier and see the sights of city life. Some suggestions to hold the young people on the farm were given by the way of Saturday afternoon off for sports, etc.

After our lady speaker, Mr. Evans (who is a bachelor) read a paper, going into the matter very much as Mrs. Songhurst had done previously.

Mr. Evans gave some thorough advice how the young should be treated, and that parents should not expect their children to work for them till long after they are grown up, and should always look for the best in them.

Those who took part in the discussion were: Mrs. E. Baker, Mrs. Richard, Mrs. Niblock, and Messrs. Allen, Day and Dunsmore. A large crowd of over ninety packed the school house.

Programme: Reading, "The Man Behind the Plow," Mrs. Chas. Evans; recitation, "Prayer and Potatoes," Mrs. E. P. P. song, H. Hemphill, (encore), reading, "While Green's Letter," T. J. Day; song, H. Hemphill (German song); reading, "Deacon's Story," E. Allen.

Next Wednesday, April 1, a debate. Resolved: That women should have the vote. Mrs. Pankhurst may not be here to address the meeting, but her cause will be ably defended by a noted male sympathizer.

Eckville

(Too late for last week)
P. Toivanen and C. Gustavson have been hauling freight from Red Deer for the Co-operative store.

Jas. Williams has taken the contract of supplying the manure on the A. C. K. with meat during the time the road is being ballasted.

C. Dalla is busy painting signs for several of the business places in town.

Mrs. P. Perler was much surprised last week when her brother and nephew arrived unexpectedly from Finland. They were here four years ago, but this time they have come to stay and intend taking up land.

The C.N.R. makes the round trip between Warden and Rocky Mountain House daily.

Mr. Raun, of Stettler, has purchased the farm east of town formerly owned by Mr. T. Baker, and intends moving into it in a few weeks.

Messrs. D. and J. J. Clausen have taken the agency for the Massey Harris farm implements for this district, and will have a carload of the same in a few days.

The spur from the A.C.R. to the gravel pit has been completed, and a gang of men have been laying side tracks for the boarding cars. The steam shovel has arrived, and the work of ballasting will be in full swing this week. Four trains will be used hauling gravel and about 400 men will be employed.

One Spark May Kindle Ulster Conflagration

Signs Point to Momentous Action by Government Soon—Activity Among Both Troops and Irish Volunteers is Apparent.

London, March 20.—The political tension has been increased by yesterday's bitter debate on the Ulster question in the house of commons, and in many quarters predictions are being made of some serious incident in Ulster. A spark, it is said, may kindle a conflagration. The Liberals deprecate these alarmist prognostications which they say simply indicate that the parliamentarians recognize that the parliamentary battle is lost and base their hopes of further assistance against the Home Rule bill on the die-hard. The possibility of an untoward incident setting Ulster aflame is admitted, however, by many Liberals, who hope that the precautions taken by the government will be adequate.

The Liberal leaders are described as growing ill under the strain. Premier Asquith is in very poor health. As for Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, he left his bed only an hour before going to the house of commons, Thursday. His suffering is said by his friends to account for the extreme bitterness of his words. A near observer on the Liberal benches declares that First Lord of the Admiralty Churchill "grew haggard with passion" at Sir Edward's words.

The atmosphere in Ulster has grown suddenly electrical, and important developments may occur at any moment. Sinister rumors abound, and there are signs and portents indicating that early and momentous action by the government may be expected.

The guards have been doubled, and the garrisons strengthened at the military barracks with a view of preventing possible raids for munitions of war by the covenanters. It is persistently reported that the arrest of the leaders of the Ulster volunteer force is imminent.

Meanwhile there is unusual activity among the Ulster volunteers. Members of the major cyclist corps left Belfast under secret orders, and the Ulstermen are convinced that the authorities contemplate some coup. It is stated in military circles that the government has a comprehensive scheme for pouring extra troops into the province within 24 hours and holding all strategic points by an overwhelming force.

Officers commanding the different districts received instructions a month ago as to the positions to be occupied immediately in the event of trouble.

ORANGEMEN TO MEET NEXT YEAR AT RED DEER

Andrew Davidson, of Calgary is Chosen Grand Master of Lodges

Medicine Hat, March 19.—The Grand Lodge of Alberta L.O.L., will meet next year at Red Deer, this being decided upon at the final meeting of the session which concluded in this city today. Other cities were also after the 1913 session, but Red Deer was favored.

Andrew Davidson of Calgary was chosen grand master, and the other officials elected were: deputy grand master, J. W. Graydon, Edmonton; junior deputy grand master, Rev. L. M. Wright, Bow Island; grand chaplain, Rev. M. A. Spry, Calgary; grand secretary, W. C. Welford, Edmonton; grand treasurer, G. T. Montgomery, Fort Saskatchewan; grand director of ceremonies, R. H. McDonald, Blairmore; grand lecturer, J. B. Brown, Calgary, and J. A. Hollingshead, Medicine Hat; deputy grand chaplains, Rev. S. A. Chauncy, Strathmore, Rev. W. J. Conolly, Clover Bar; Rev. W. Watkins, Coleman, Rev. Jas. Desson, Olds; J. M. Pawcett, Staveland; deputy grand secretary, J. B. Eccoburn, Edmonton; grand auditors, E. Wirt, Calgary, and C. Ernest, Edmonton.

Young People's Society of Valley Centre

The celebration in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Christ, of Erin's patron saint was a pronounced success, despite the inclemency of the weather on the 17th instant. The programme was for the occasion by the devotional and literary committees proved a veritable feast of Irish selections in history, instrumental music, poetry, song and wit. The Vice-President occupied the chair. After the opening hymn had been sung, the chairman announced that the topic for the evening was "Tom O'Hara's Banquet." Concisely, the story centred around a prodigal Ulsterman, who had spent well nigh three score years of his life in riotous and high-ball living. Accepting a printed invitation to a mission banquet, he gets converted, and resolves to become a follower of Jesus Christ henceforth. The story was brimful of admonitions and warning regarding the dangers of the arch enemy of humanity—alcoholic liquor.

Literary programme: Vocal solo, "Barnie, Take Me Home Again," Mrs. Rowell; recitation, "Irish Verses," Mr. O'Connor; mouth organ solo, Mr. Story; vocal solo, "The Last Rose of Summer," Mr. Whittemore; reading, "The Bells of Shannon," Father Mahony; vocal duet, "Fiddle My Own Canoe," Mr. Puzey; reading, "History of St. Patrick," Mrs. Rowell; vocal solo, "There's a Pretty Spot in Ireland," Mrs. Heaman; mouth organ solo, Mr. Story; organ solo, Mr. Lindhardt; vocal solo, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," Mrs. Rowell; reading, "Olt in the Stilly Night," Mr. Moore.

Mrs. Heaman and Messrs. Lindhardt and Story received encores, while the other performers were heartily applauded. A unique feature of the evening's diversion was Mrs. Rowell's three Irish jokes, entitled "The Long Road," "Two Irishmen Discussing Socialism," and "Pat and the Alphabet," all sparkling with genial Irish humor. Before closing papers were distributed among the audience having written subjects on them for, impromptu speeches of five minutes duration. The following were the lucky recipients, who duly confronted the assembly and delivered their harangues: Messrs. Brown, Puzey, Purdie and Whittemore. The subjects were: "What is the best day of all the year to you?" What would you marry for, love or money?" "Should baseball be played on Sunday?" and "Why do people and the birds go south in winter?" Nobody offered or suggested an opinion on the happy go lucky orations delivered. Mrs. Puzey accompanied on the piano during the evening. A happy and pleasant evening terminated with the singing of "Home, Sweet Home" in concert. Remember the social next Wednesday evening.

Teachers' Convention

An attractive programme has been received at this office, announcing the Fifth Annual Convention of the Alberta Educational Association, which will be held in Lethbridge on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 14-16, in the new Wesley church, corner of Fourth ave. and Eleventh street.

In addition to addresses of welcome from Mayor W. D. L. Hardie, and J. D. Higgenbottom, chairman of the school board, an address will be delivered by Hon. J. R. Boyle, Minister of Education. Other special features will be addresses from Mr. John Blue, B.A., Provincial Librarian, on Canadian Civics, in addition to a couple of addresses from Professor Maria L. Sanford, of the University of Minnesota.

Every teacher has the right to attend the convention and cannot be expected to teach on April 17th. Every district whose teacher or teachers attend the convention will receive the government grant for four days.

50,000 Bible Class Men in Parade

This is to be one of the features of the Fourteenth Convention of the International Sunday School Association to be held in Chicago, June 23-30, 1914. The fifty thousand men will all be Bible students. Trainloads of men are to go into Chicago for the parade. The Alberta delegation will be in the line. This parade is to be the greatest testimony to the dynamic influence of the Bible the world has ever witnessed. It will also celebrate reaching the goal set before the International Adult Bible Class Committee, namely, 50,000 Organized Adult Bible Classes in America. These classes represent an army of over two million men and women.

Alberta's share of the fifty thousand classes is at least one hundred and fifty classes. There are ninety-five classes now enrolled in the office of the Alberta Sunday School Association, Calgary, and the General Secretary, F. E. Werry, has sent out an appeal to all parts of the province asking for the enrolment of Organized Adult Bible Classes. All that is required to be numbered with the fifty thousand classes in America is to supply to Mr. Werry for an International Certificate of Recognition, but without this certificate a class cannot be counted.

MILLINERY OPENING.

Notwithstanding the blizzard, Lord's millinery opening was the centre of activity yesterday, the store being crowded all day with an appreciative assembly of Red Deer ladies, who were very busy selecting their Easter bonnets, and we understand the sales made were in excess of those of any previous opening event. Miss Oulton, the milliner in charge, thoroughly understands her business, and certainly has on display some beautiful samples of her handiwork. The Webb orchestra furnished choice music during the day.
